REPORT OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS.

To the School Board and Citizens:

I herewith submit my seventh annual report of the schools of Bow.

There were maintained during the year, six schools for a school year of 36 weeks, with no change in the teaching force.

The total school enrollment was 118 (60 boys and 58 girls), with a daily average attendance of 91.95 per cent, making a loss of 1.93 per cent from last year. This loss was unavoidable, owing to severe epidemics and the moving from the district of pupils.

The schools were in session on an average 347.34 half days, showing a gain over last year of 3.67 half days.

This improvement leads us to expect that an average daily attendance of 98 per cent and yearly average sessions of 350 half days may be attained in the coming year.

I quote somewhat freely from the Report of the State Board of Education for the Biennial Period Ending June 30, 1926, for the purpose that citizens and parents may more fully understand the duties which they are to perform in the making of good schools.

"SCHOOL YEAR.

"When the 1919 school law was enacted no feature seemed more chimerical to school board members and others familiar with New Hampshire country life than the standard that all children should have schools for at least thirty-six weeks each year. It was believed that for all time farm children, because of difficulties of travel and weather, must have less schooling than their urban cousins. It was held that farm children could not be spared from home duties, that roads were impassable and that weather conditions were beyond control. Accordingly the law provided that on petition, the State Board of Education for unusual circumstances might shorten the school year for specified schools.

"In one respect the record for 1925 was not a satisfactory one. In a number of towns there were scattered cases of scarlet fever in the spring months. This resulted in a degree of panic in some places and closed schools. In others, the school boards and health officers were wiser. Schools were kept open, all pupils watched carefully for the isolation of incipient cases and the disease promptly stamped out.

"In 1926 school boards consistently refused to be stampeded by contagious diseases, and every school in the state was open for the full year.

"A plan which is gaining approval among school boards is to contract for 360 half days of service in thirty-seven working weeks. By this plan every day lost for any cause may be made up. Some of our school boards, through carelessness, are permitting many half days each year to be lost."

"SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

"The New Hampshire school attendance law is very simple. All children must attend a public or an approved private school every day that the school is in session from their eighth to sixteenth birthdays, or to their fourteenth birthday if they have then completed the eighth grade. There is no excuse except physical or mental incompetence. Neither poverty of parents nor isolation of the home may stand in the way. At least eight years of schooling is an inalienable right of New Hampshire children.

"For thirty years this law has been unchanged and has been enforced. For this purpose each district has its own truant officer. Commonly these men are vigilant and effective. The cities are particularly well served. In the small towns often difficulties arise due to the fact that the truant officer and the negligent parent are neighbors or relatives, and an official act is likely to be regarded as a personal one. For this reason we have many calls for aid from a state attendance officer."

The school at the Mills is overcrowded, having enrolled 43 pupils in eight grades, taught by one teacher. When the school building is erected, as voted at the annual meeting in March, 1926, this congestion will be relieved, and by the employment of another teacher better results will be attained.

COST OF INSTRUCTION IN SCHOOLS.

(Report of State Board.)

	Per pupil.
"One-room schools,	$49.13
Village elementary schools,	34.21
City elementary schools,	43.32

"This table gives the average cost per pupil for instruction in elementary schools of the three types. The salary of the teachers is the only item of instruction considered. The teachers in the rural schools are the lowest paid, but the small size of the schools makes the per pupil cost very high. It is even higher than in city schools, where teachers may receive double the salary.

"Experience shows that with fewer than 10 pupils a satisfactory school can seldom be maintained, and for the best work a school should enroll at least 15. Yet 100 schools number fewer than 10, and 150 more fewer than 13. Nearly all of these are rural schools. Business economy and educational efficiency require for these schools the consideration of transportation rather than local school maintenance. On the other hand, a one-room rural school which enrolls 25 pupils or over needs a particularly competent teacher, or division, with the transportation of upper grades to another school. One-room schools are expensive. We believe, however, that they should be maintained when sufficient children can be gathered to make a real school.

"In any attempt to reduce the cost of schools, attention should be given to the very small schools. It is evident that in a school of six pupils, the per pupil cost of instruction alone will average $120.00"

HEALTH.

Health inspection was conducted by Miss Katherine A. O'Donnell, R. N., of Manchester, N. H. Miss O'Donnell was efficient and enthusiastic in her work, and through her work in the school and home taught the pupils to practice better health habits. In Miss O'Donnell's report you will find her work in detail.

I believe it is generally acknowledged that no problem of school management is of more importance than the care of conditions affecting the physical welfare and health of the pupils.

TEACHERS' MEETINGS.

At these meetings able and instructive addresses were given by Dr. E. W. Butterfield, Commissioner of Education, "A Worthy Use of Leisure Time"; Headmaster Harold M. Smith of Pembroke Academy, English; Miss Phila Griffin, State Agent for Rural Schools of New Hampshire, History; Miss Bernice Batchelder, former Instructor in Bridgewater, Mass., Normal School, Geography; William Y. Morrison, State Agent for High Schools of New Hampshire, "The Development of Teachers"; and Louis P. Benezet, Superintendent of Schools of Manchester, Reading.

At other meetings the subject of Economy was discussed as shown in the use of a daily time table of recitations, in the distribution of scholars' supplies and in the care and use of textbooks.

These meetings serve a useful purpose in keeping alive a professional spirit and in improvement in school management and methods.

Various standardized tests were given throughout the year with emphasis placed upon the fundamental processes in Arithmetic.

The teachers were faithful and generally efficient. Many improved their work through attendance at summer schools, teachers' institutes, and by reading books and magazines on education.

Parents and citizens are cordially invited to visit the schools frequently.

In conclusion, I express my appreciation for your coöperation and assistance.

Respectfully submitted,

HENRY S. ROBERTS.

REPORT OF SCHOOL NURSE.

MR. HENRY S. ROBERTS, Superintendent of Schools:

Dear Sir:

In my visits to the schools I examined the pupils for defects of eye, ear, teeth, throat and lungs, and when found I notified the parents by cards. I also visited the homes to assist the parents in correcting these defects, suggesting remedies and other remedial aid.

I placed upon the walls, dental charts and cards of health rules, and with the teachers encouraged contests to see which pupil would practice the greatest number of these rules. Each child's name was enrolled on a chart and a star placed after the name of the child performing the required tasks. The greatest number of stars indicated the winner.

The children were measured and weighed to ascertain if they were up to standard in height and weight; if they were found to be underweight they were instructed as to diet and health habits.
